Loneliness is repellent. It has a subtle aura of sadness, an inadequacy to attract or interest; one feels slightly ashamed of it. But, to a degree, it is the theme of everyone.

Free School: (a definition) No one has to be anywhere at any time; But everyone can be somewhere all the time; And everyone should be everywhere at some time.

Free School—what an appropriate name.

There are times when this school gets me down, but no where near the depressed condition that I encountered last year. Yes, I'm so glad that conservative Farmingdale has established a free school.

When I just walk into the room seeing people smile—greeting me with a smile—I know that we're all part of the family. The one family that exists in these cold rooms—but it's us that makes it so warm in here.

Dear All Free School People, May the longtime sun shine on you, Love surround you. May the pure light within you guide you on your way!

I came into the free school this year expecting something much different than it really is . . . last year, although I was only an outsider looking in on the free school I saw a unity between everyone . . . but this year, things aren't like that. It's already been 3 months and no one has opened up.

I'm glad I'm in informal school, and I never want to ever be in regular school if I can help it.

The Free School has a firm start and I hope it will live and grow to be what it was intended to be for each individual person.

Everyone is putting their energy into doing as little as possilbe. I bet by 11:00 today 80 people have left.

Why are you all so hung up on love and happiness and smiles? This school is becoming a fragile bubble where one does not dare enter for fear of being less afraid to touch each other.

I "Bruce" you, You "Bruce" me . . . Is that anything like "We all need somebody to Leon?" . . . or "Oh Howie danced on the night we were wed?"

We should not be too harsh on our friends. Though sometimes we say (some of us) that free school people have been cold to each other isn't it because those who have said it were afraid to open up themselves?

We are like a tree growing upwards, each beginning as a seperate root, reaching up towards the same colored sky. From the same strong trunk we will grow.

I can't write—it hurts too much to end it all. Free School was everything to me and now it's over. I'm kinda lost. It's good to know that free school was so important.

The end is just the beginning . . . if you start from the back.

Informal School Students' Thoughts Book

DON'T BE HALF A MAN!

Take a good honest look at yourself! Are you proud of your body—or are satisfied to go through life being just "half the man" you could be? No matter how ashamed you are of your present physical condition—or how old or young you are—the "sleeping" muscles already present in your body can turn you into a real HE-MAN! Believe me, I know—because I was once a skinny, scrawny 97-pound half-alive weakling! People used to laugh at my build and make fun of me. I was ashamed to strip for sports or the beach . . . shy of girls . . . afraid of healthy competition.

Charles Atlas

"We thought it was a good idea in the beginning," commented Mr. John McLennan about the new daylight savings time. He said that he was willing to have school open in the dark if it was not dangerous for the students and would save energy.

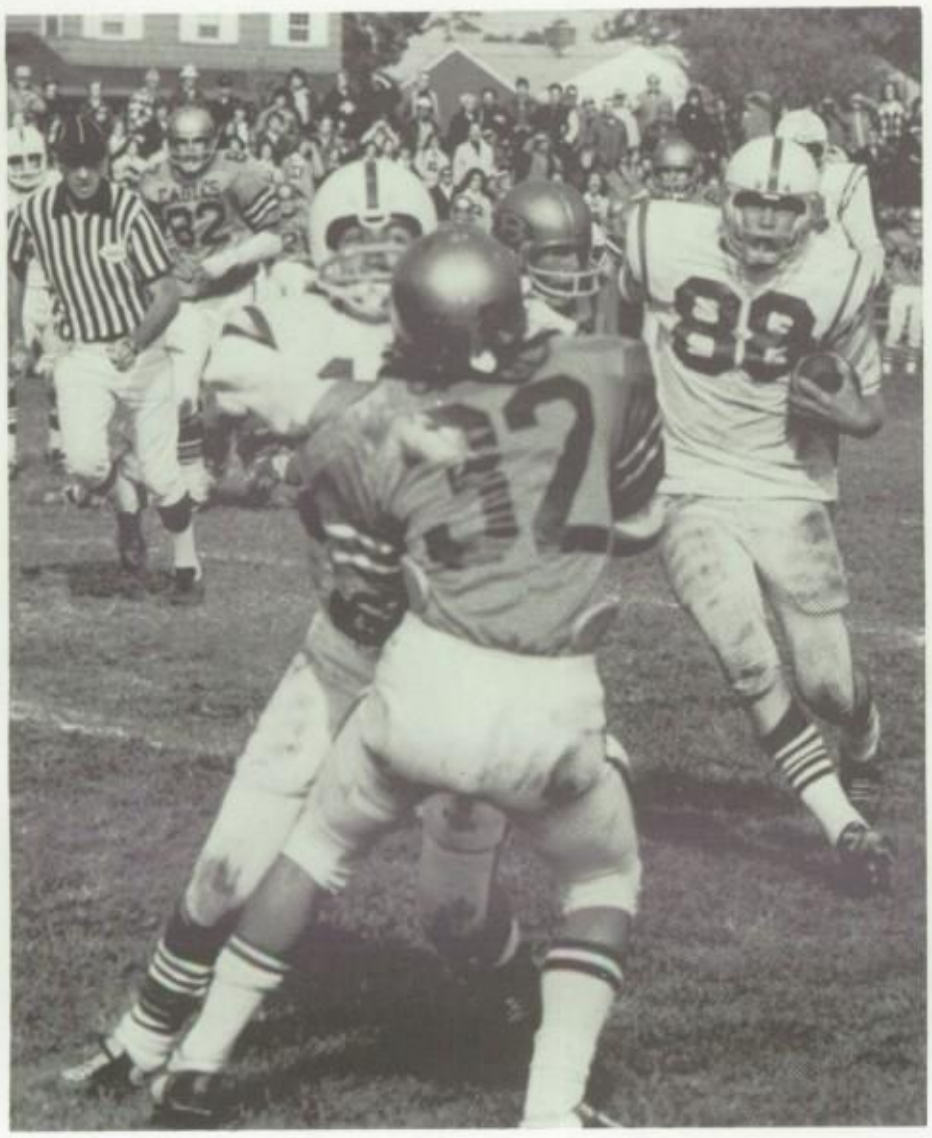
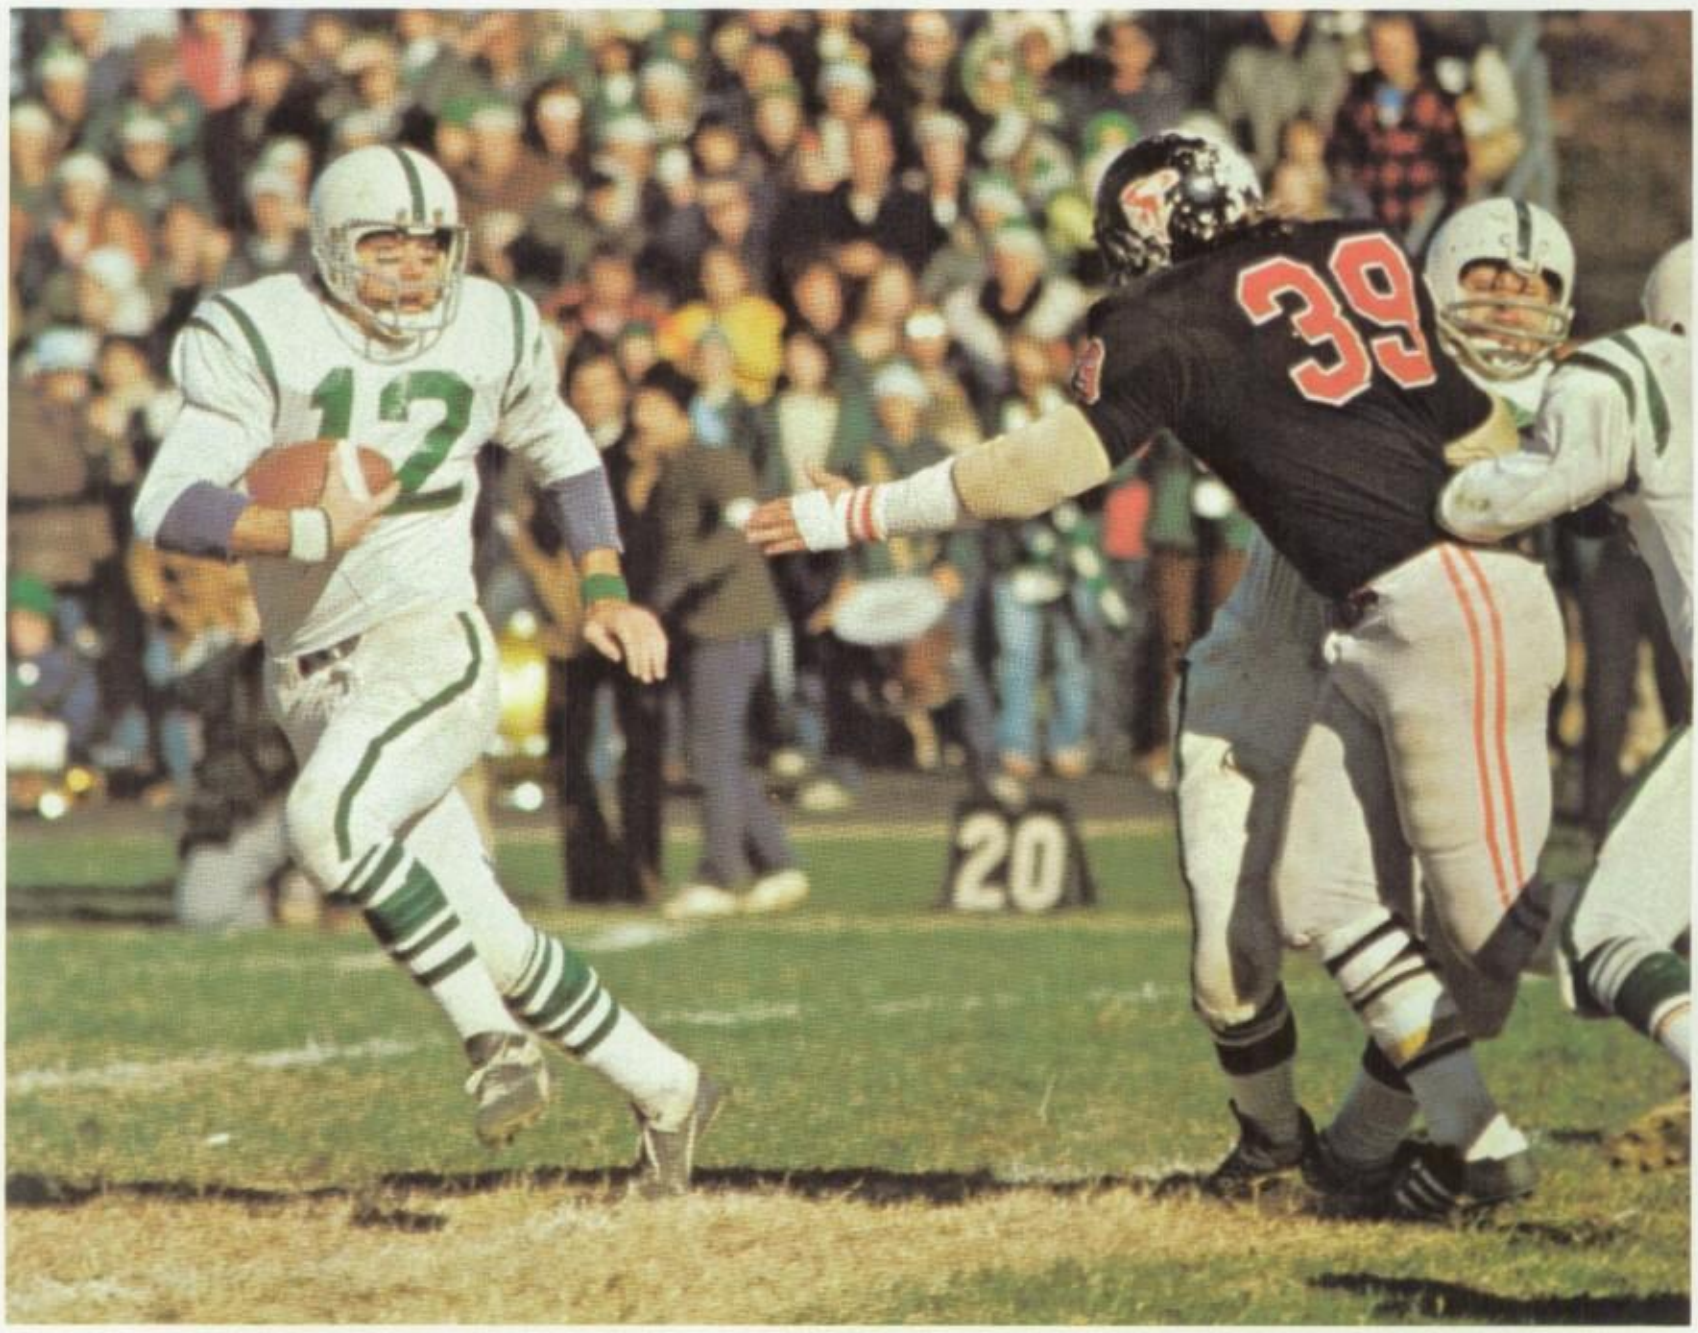
Sports

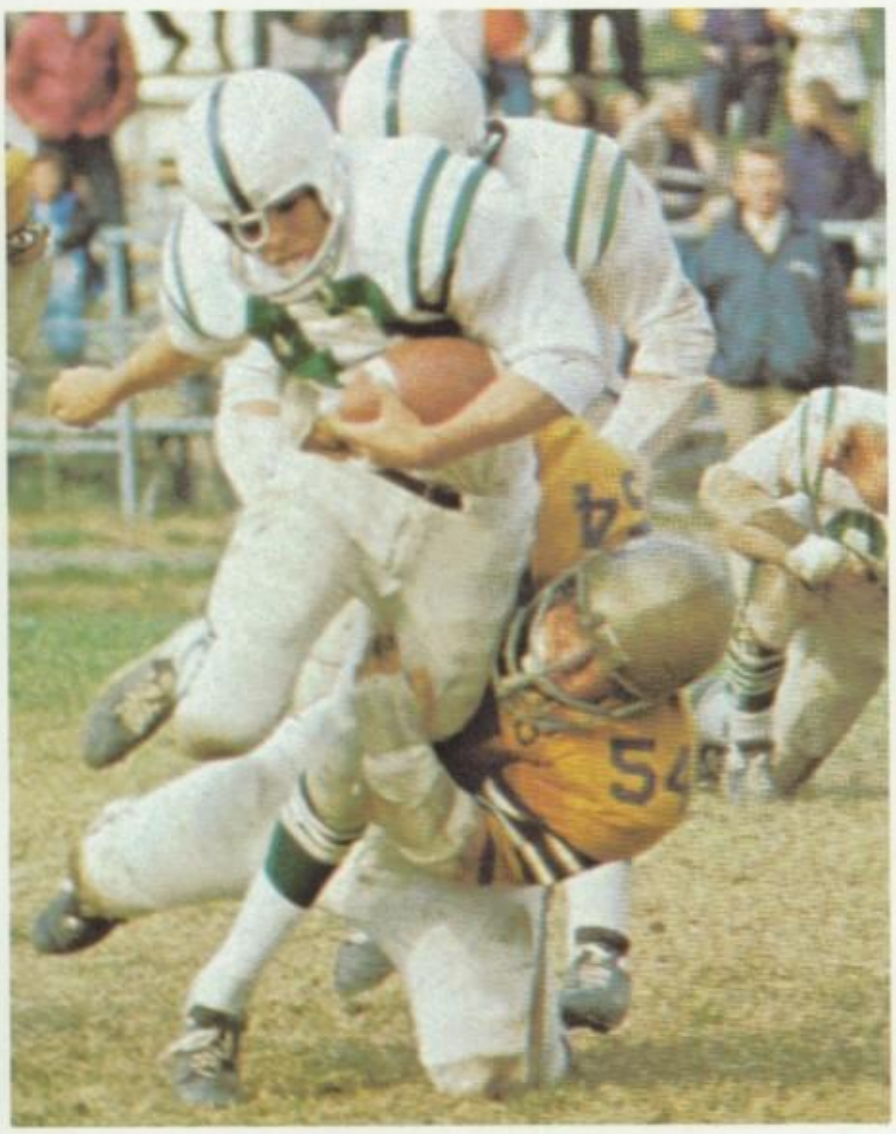


"Unity is the Key to success. And our coaches have the unity that is essential to winning."

"In September everybody counted us out but we worked hard to try and prove them wrong."

"I felt sick after the game . . . but later I felt better when I realized that it was such a good team we lost to."

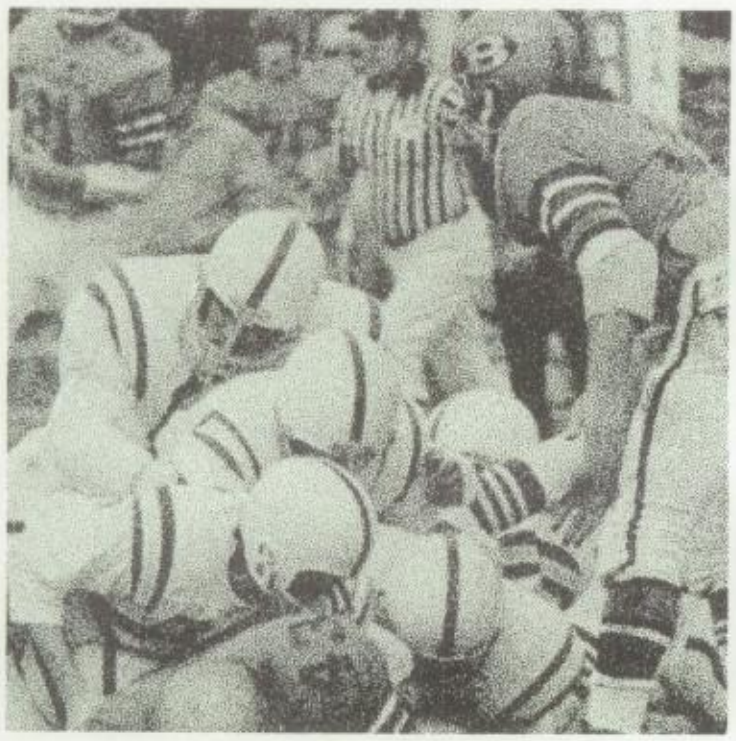




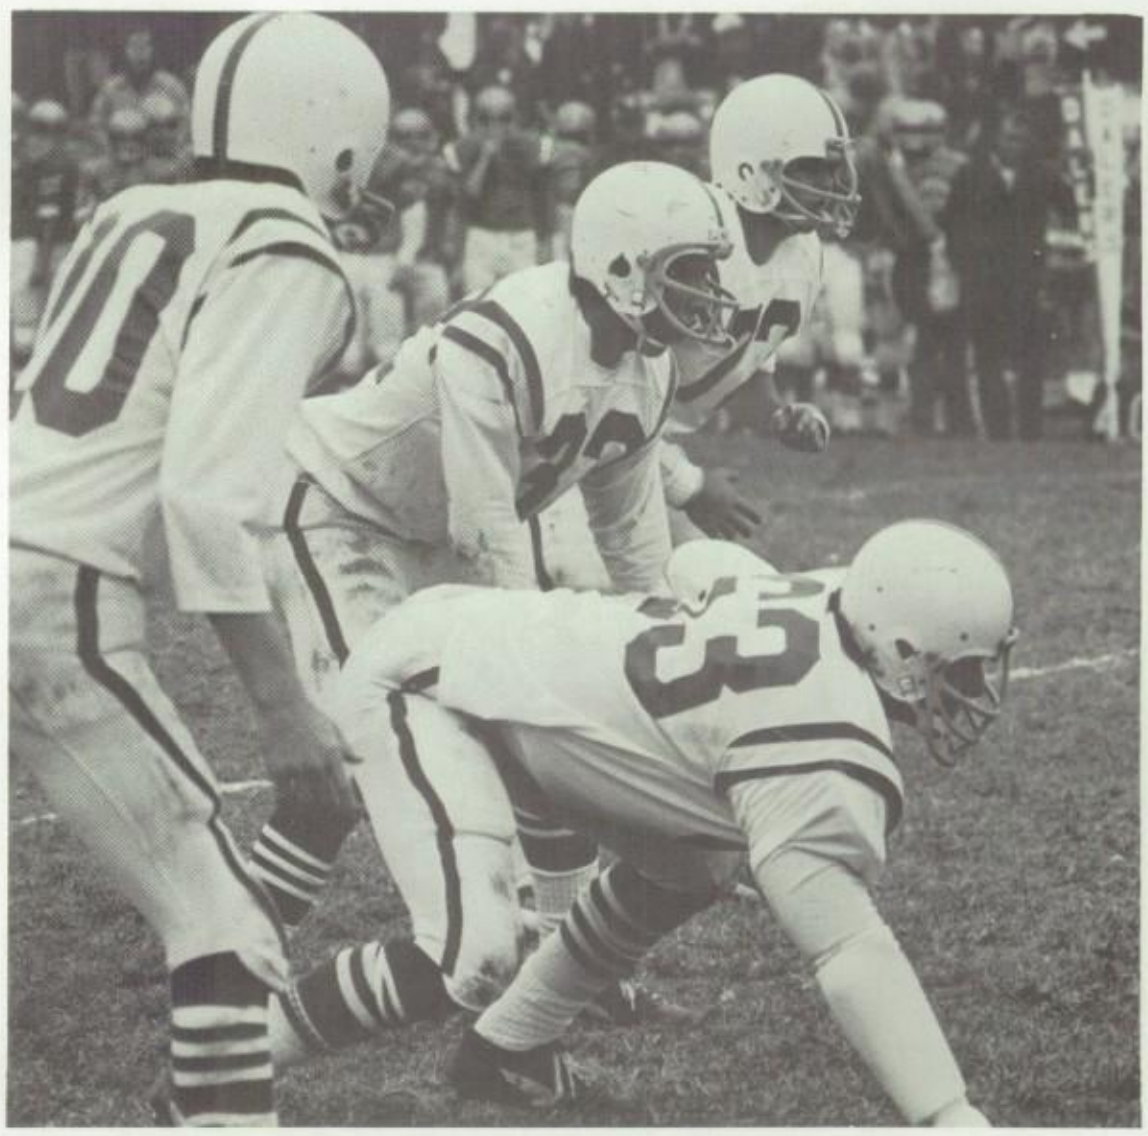
"If we couldn't win the county championship, I'm glad Syosset did."

"We went surprisingly far for a re-building season."

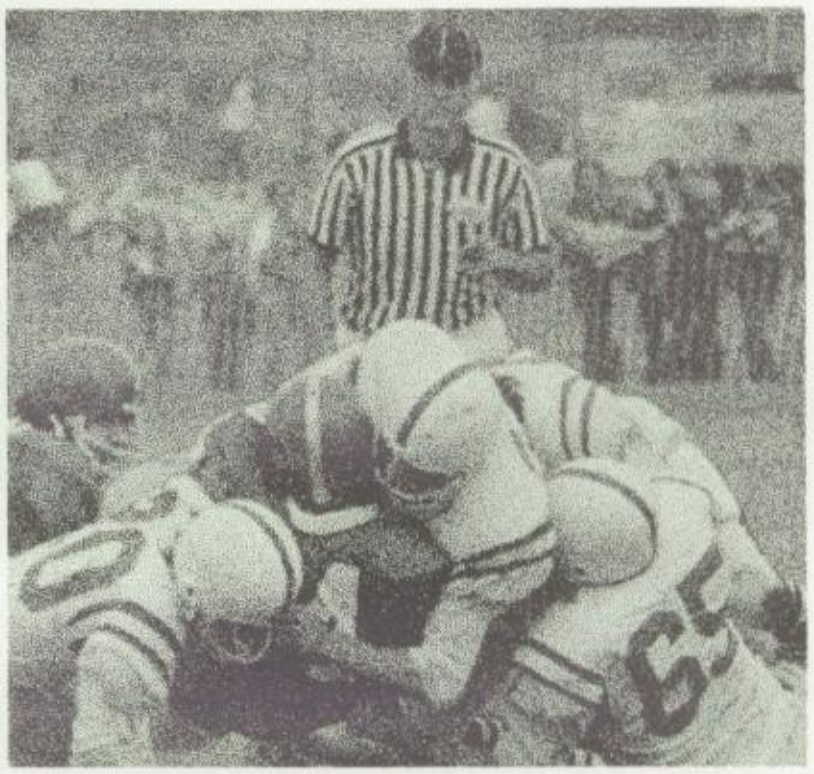
"I love to hit people"



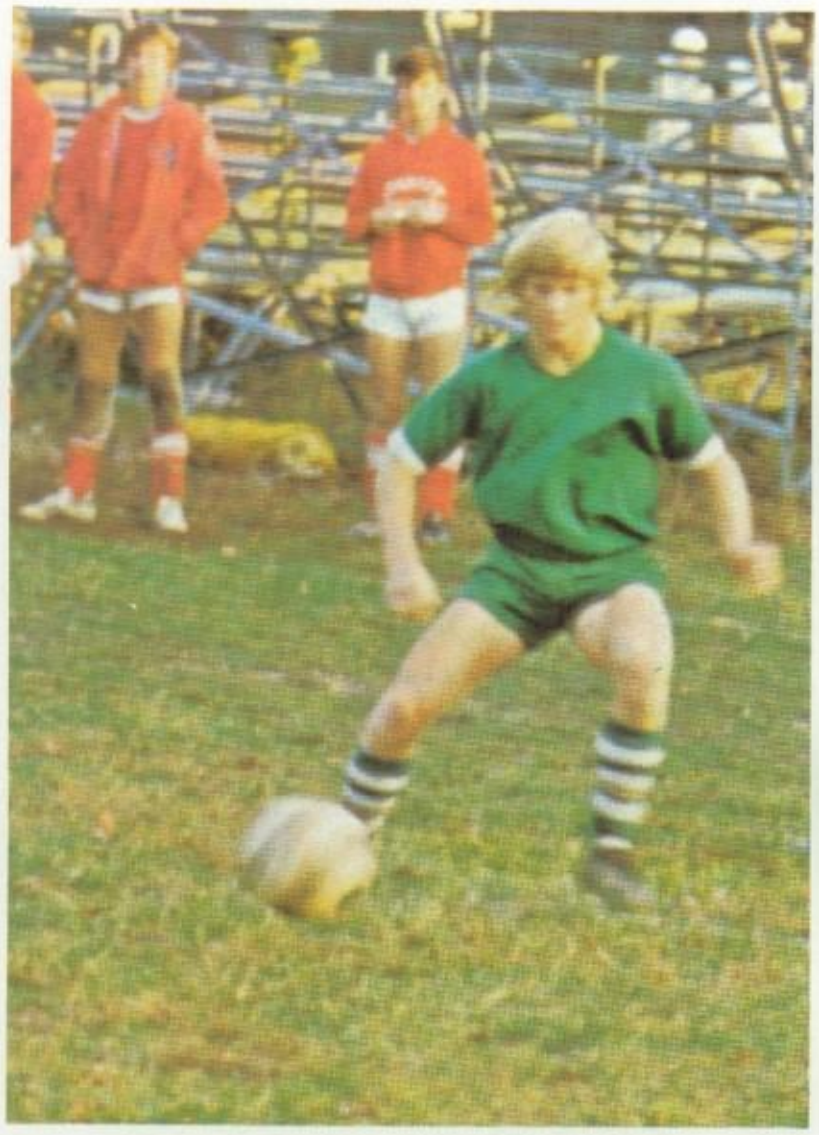
"You have to be crazy to play defense . . . just pounding your body against another's."

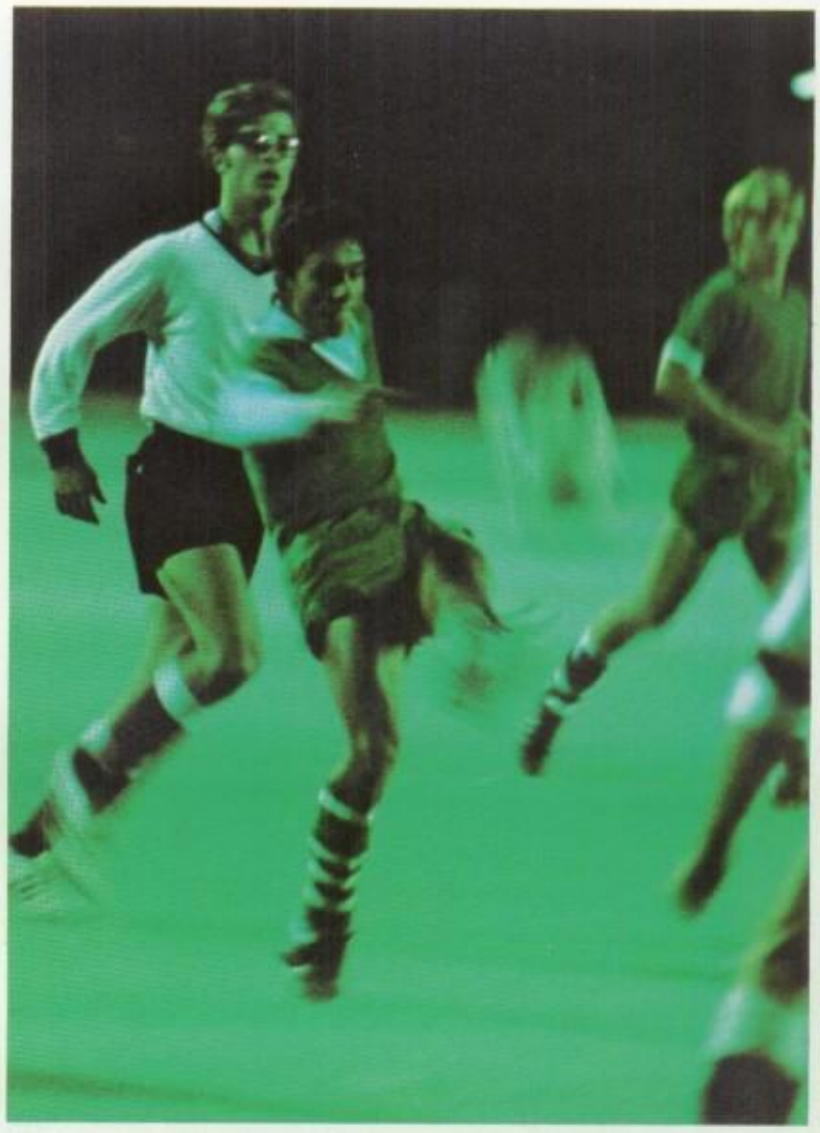


"The key to defense is to want to hit that ball carrier as fast and hard as you can."



"Once the game starts, those on defense lose their rationality and devote all their senses to releasing the temporary hatred they feel toward their opponent."



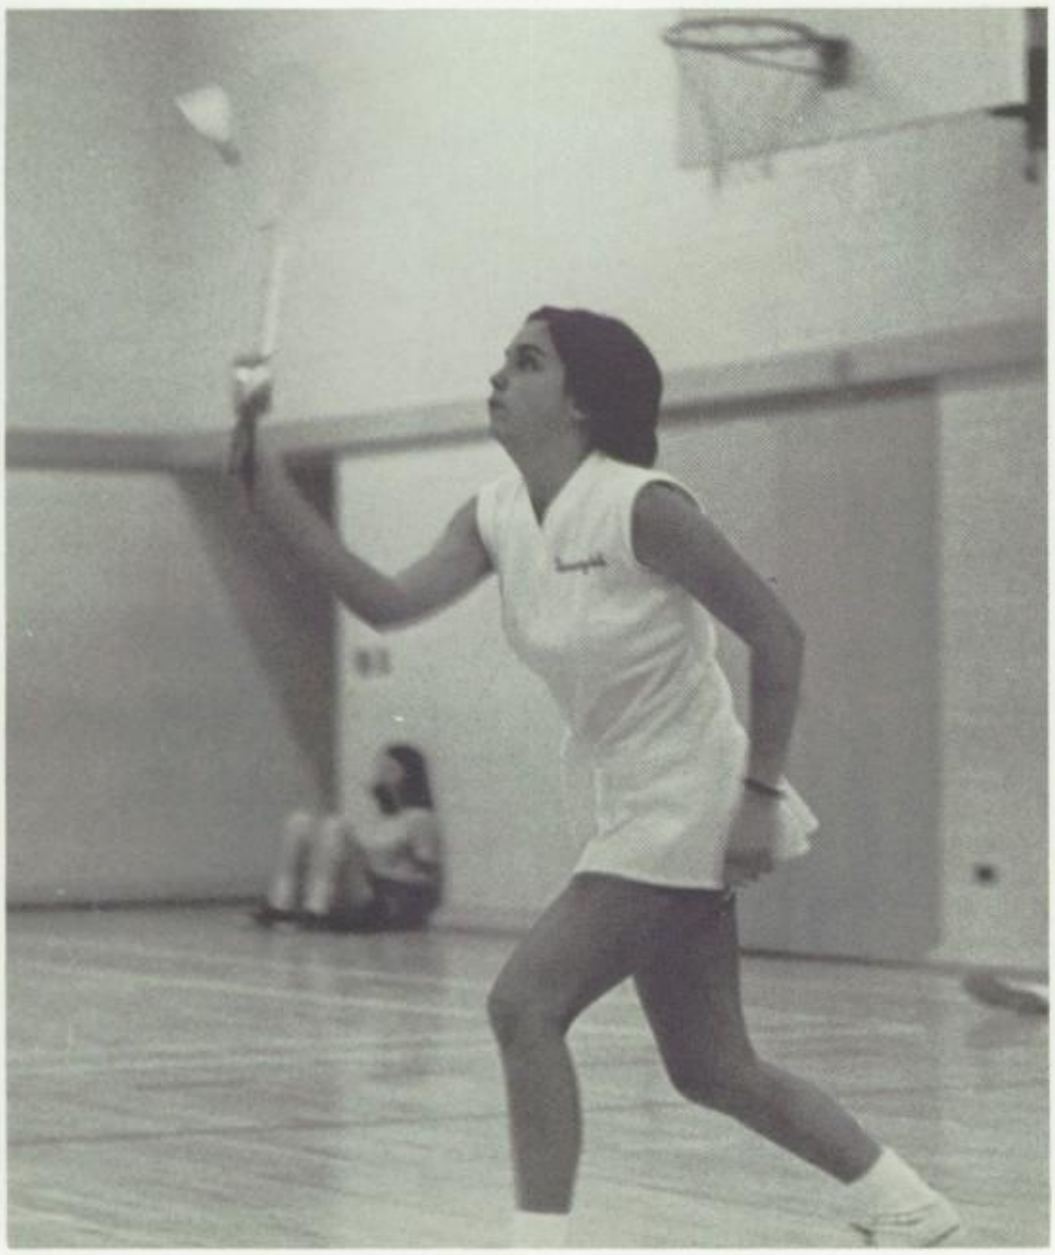


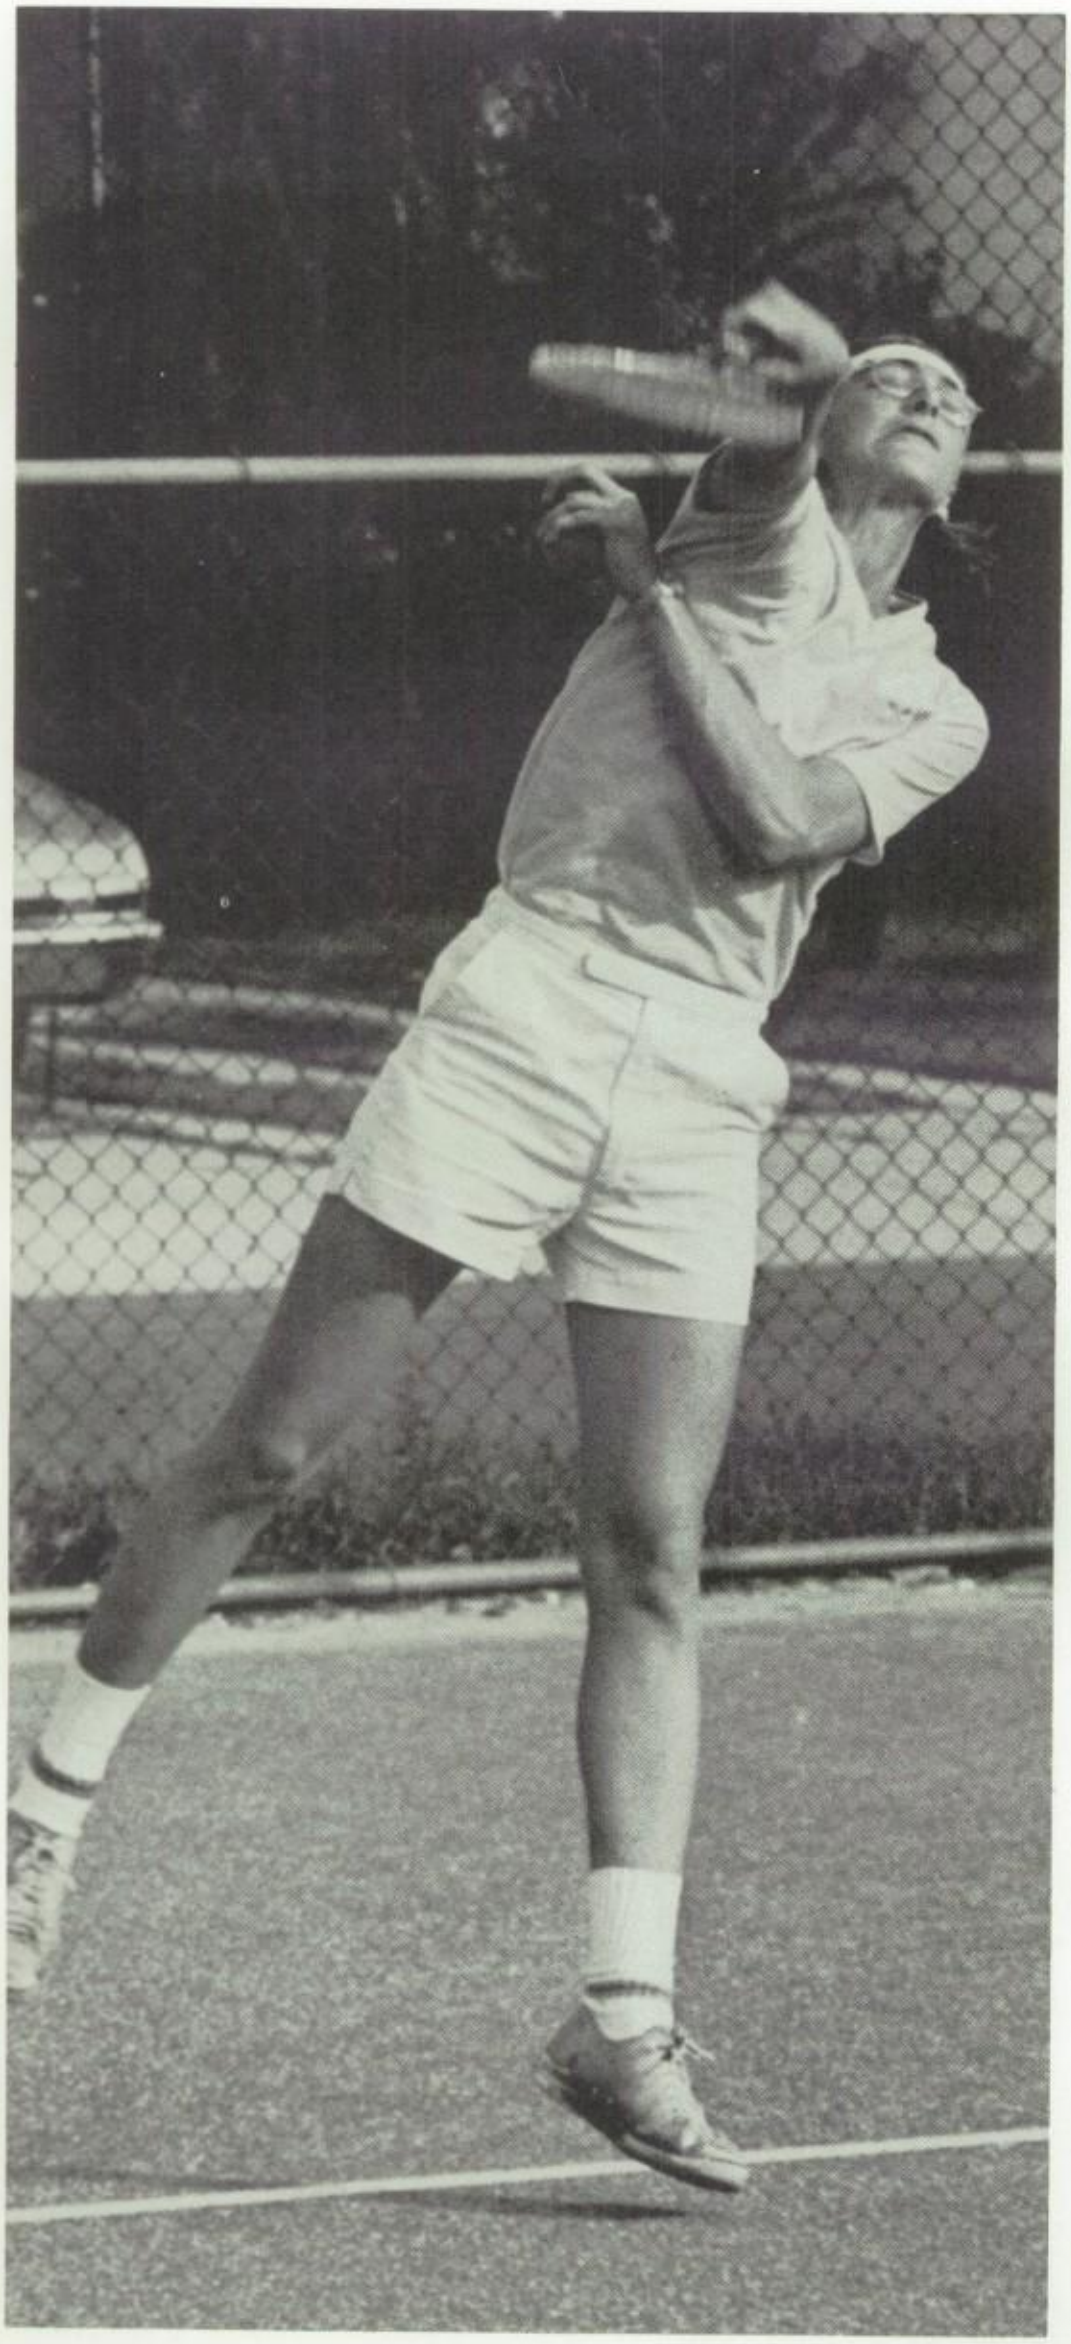
"Could the field crew rearrange the rocks please?"

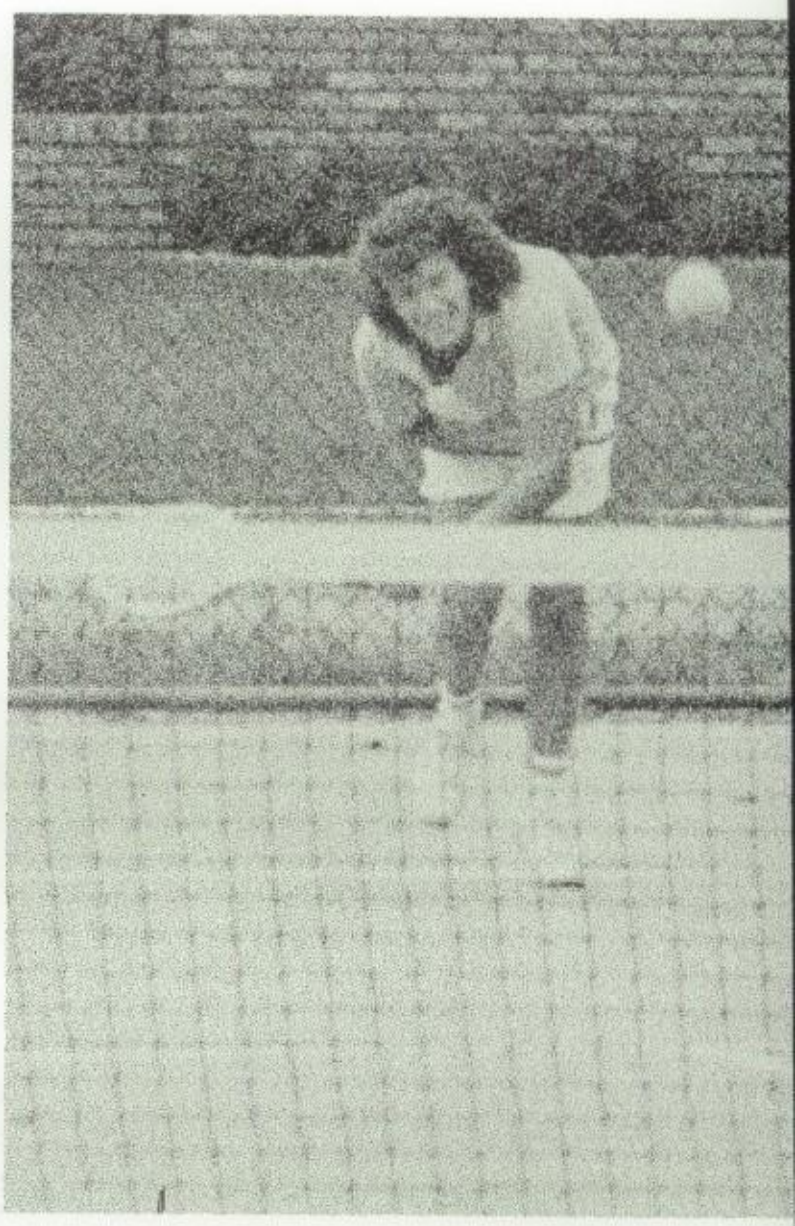
"I'd rather play on the parking field than the soccer field . . . the cement is softer."

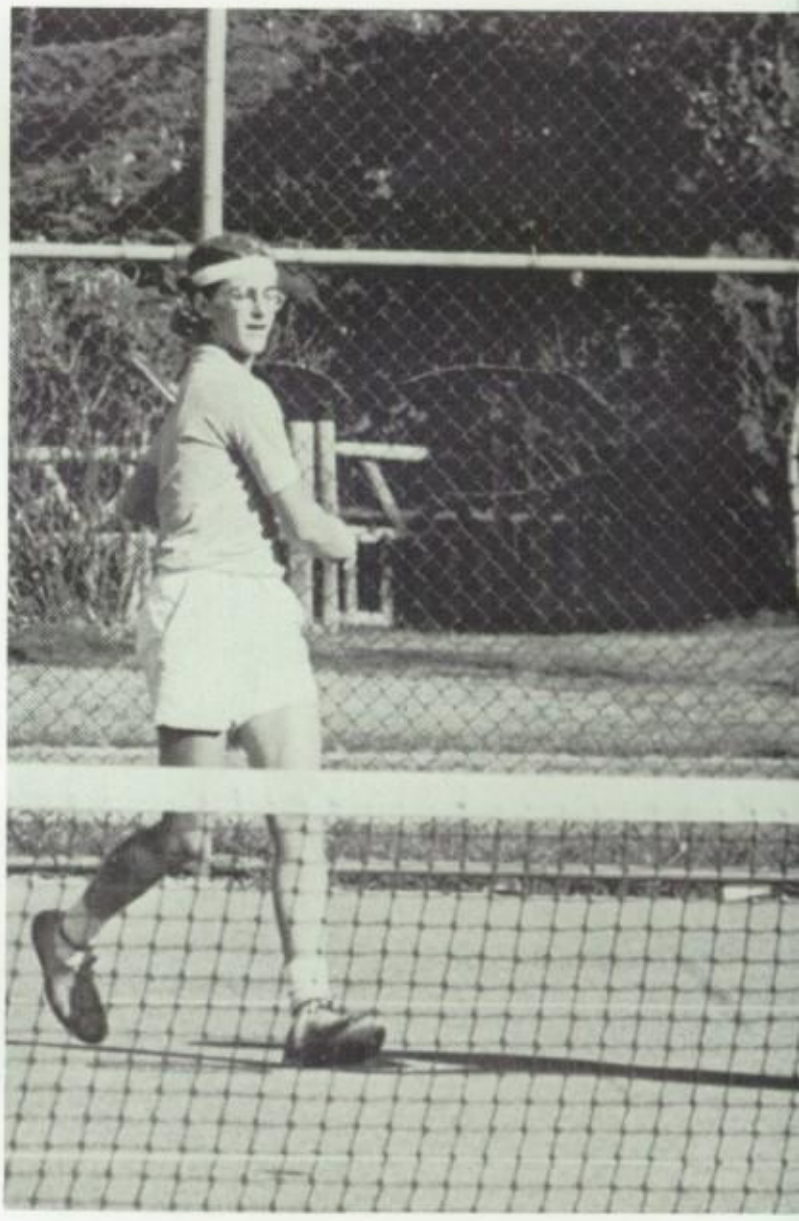
"We finally got a little fan support this year."

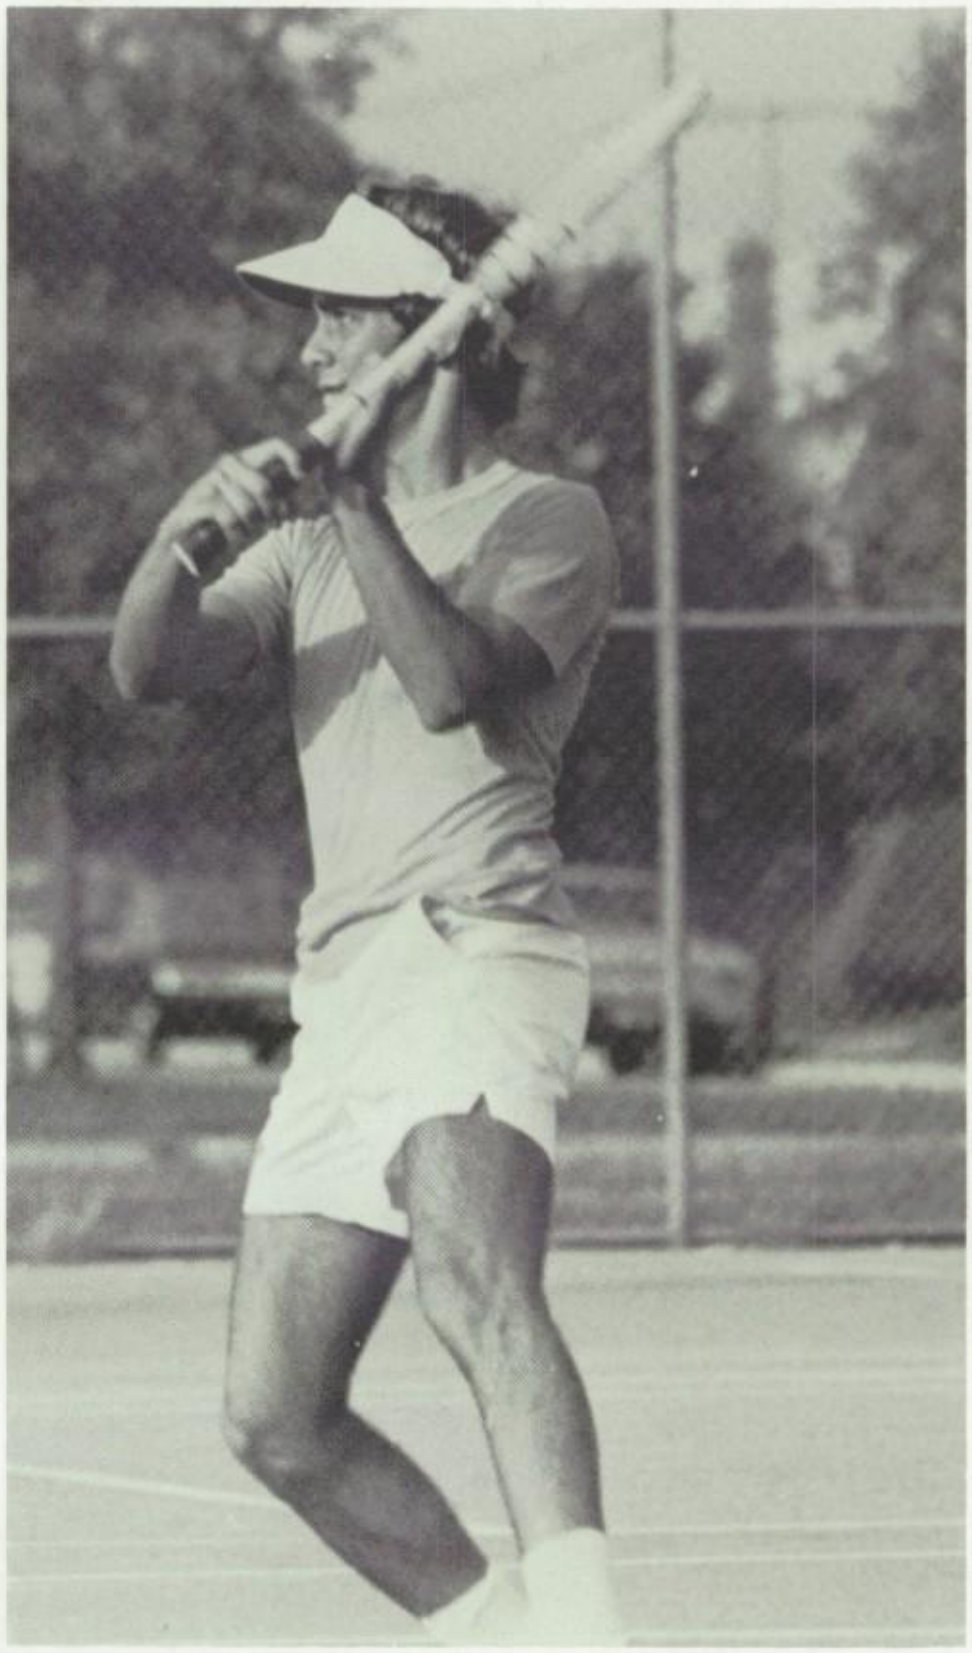
Now that the season's over, the only ones complaining are the rest of the North Shore soccer teams.











"I like the guys that I play against. Most of them are nice guys. I like showing them the bathroom and the commons. They're always amazed at the bathroom."

"I'd rather play on the soccer field; the bounces would be more even."

Editors invade from planet Edgar

The two students pictured here may look like the editors of the Paper Lion, Farmingdale High School's preferred publication. But in actuality, they are Zircon-X and Preparation-H, visitors from the planet Edgar, who have been inhabiting earthling bodies.

It all started in the fall when Edgar was suffering from the heartbreak of psoriasis, brought on by the lack of the planet's staple crop, paper clips. Determined to save Edgar from oblivion (or too many scabs), Zircky and Preppy headed for earth, where great deposits of monkey-meat are known to be found. Their mission was to retrieve all the monkey-meat, and in addition, get a quart of skim milk and some cottage cheese. With these ingredients, Edgar could be restored to the fertile rain forest it once was, without using Vitalis.

But Zircon and Prep could not go to earth in the actual forms, resembling flashlights with big rear ends, and so they chose to pose as Bradley Kesden and Eric Pyenson, editors extraordinaire.

Zirco and Prepface might just have gotten away with it, if it wasn't for Bobbie "Thighs" Montelapastawitz, vice-president of the "Invaders-Patrol Club." Well versed in the customs of eating habits of an Edgaron, "Thighs" suspected the two from the very start. "Brad and Eric never liked to drink motor oil, " exclaimed Monte.

And so Zircon and Prep were banished to Southern California, and Brad and Eric regained control of the paper. Now they're back to drinking transmission fluid!

SEE! I'M ALMOST 3 FEET TALL!—says Cyla Allison, Paper Lion advisor. Although her growth has peaked, Cyla still aspires to be a professional pole-vaulter.

MIRROR, MIRROR ON THE WALL—Editor Eric Pyenson says hello from the fourth dimension. Exclaimed editor Brad Kesden, "That's a nice reflection on you."

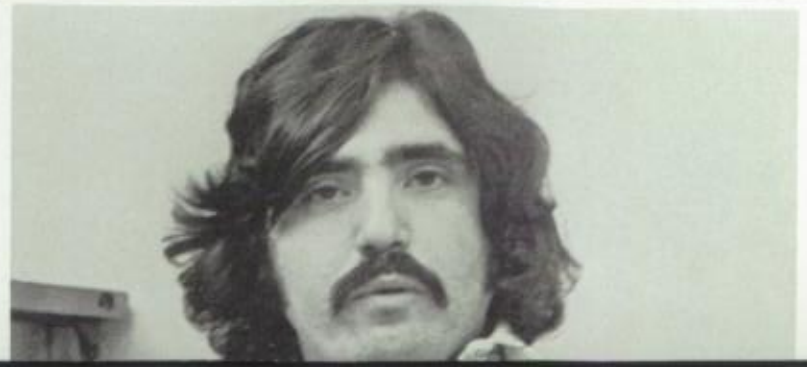
Energy crisis



Staff reflects on past high school year

As you dust off your yearbook and slowly crack it open fifty years hence, you will hopefully begin a blissful trip down memory lane which will bring back the happy three years you spent at Farmingdale high school. For the members of the Paper Lion, it will be a slightly different story.

The first effort of the new staff was an eight page extravaganza which featured an in-depth interview with the town's most well known citizen, mayor John Hallahan. Since then, the mayor has been seen on Main Street guzzling Lestoil.

After that issue, we were almost put in jail because nobody wanted to pay for it. Luckily, our appeals (and prayers) were answered by the Dad's Club.

A traumatic change occurred at the paper in September when we switched printers. Previously, the Lion was published by "Keebler" elves stationed in the basement. But somehow, we were always short a few copies.

This year our publisher is Dan Carroll Associates. Dan loves the Lion so much that not only does he print what we send him but he adds several blotches and beauty marks of his own. But, professionally speaking, Dan is a swell guy and we all like his beard. (Now if he'd stop making passes at our advisor.)

Of course, the milestone of the year was our climactic journey to Syracuse, NY. Besides being a highly educational and stimulating journey, the Paper Lion staff benefitted greatly from two days and nights of non-stop interaction with other publication staffs, college students and various hotel personnel. What more can we say about Syracuse and still get away with?

After Syracuse, everything started going our way, even the traffic. We left the first two turkey issues behind us and put out eight and twelve page issues, respectively.

Of course, all of this could not have been possible without a few outstanding personnel. Among them are Mark "cool hand" Bayer who is a chicken fanatic, and Bob Monteleone, our Neopolitan strong man, who holds the world's record for fettucine. Which brings us to our advisor, Cyla Allison. What more can we say about her?

dwarf

by Brad and Eric

The next time you see a Walt Disney "short" expecting the seven dwarfs, do not be surprised if they are not all in attendance. The effects of the energy crisis have not evaded these short creatures.

"We ate Dopey as an energy-conserving move," said Doc, the short and elderly physician. Although Dopey did put a big burden on the dwarves' oven, the remaining six felt that in the long run they made the right decision. "He was always leaving the lights on," said Grumpy. Don't forget all the dust he attracted, wheezed Sneezy. "Not to mention his traveling over 50 miles an hour," said Grumpy.

Further conservation plans in the mind by the dwarfs include....

Mice infiltrate

Recent sightings of small furry creatures in the high school lead many to believe that a large scale mouse invasion is underway.

Just an hour ago one of the petite rascals was ambushed and captured. He is believed to be a field-marshal but had little to say except, "Po-tee-weet." So it goes. However, Clifford Mackin, assistant principal intends to apply Chinese cheese torture to the rodent for further information. John McLennan, principal, was heard to comment, "I hate mieces to pieces."

Prologue

Here bygynneth the Book of the Tales of Caunterbury

Whan that Aprill with hise shoures soote
The droghte of March hath perced to the roote,
And bathed every veyne in swich licour
Of which vertu engendred is the flour;
Whan Zephirus eek with his sweete breeth
Inspired hath in every holt and heeth
The tendre croppes, and the yonge sonne
Hath in the Ram his halfe cours yronne;
And smale foweles maken melodye,
That slepen al the nyght with open eye
(So priketh hem nature in hir corages);
Thanne longen folk to goon on pilgrimages,
And palmeres for to seken straunge strondes,
To ferne halwes kouthe in sondry londes;
And specially from every shires ende
Of Engelond to Caunterbury they wende,
The hooly blisful martir for to seke,
That hem hath holpen whan that they were seeke.
Bifil that in that seson on a day,
In Southwerk at the Tabard as I lay,
Redy to wenden on my pilgrymage
To Caunterbury with ful devout corage,
At nyght was come into that hostelrye
Wel nyne and twenty in a compaignye
Of sondry folk, by aventure y-falle
In felaweshipe, and pilgrimes were they alle,

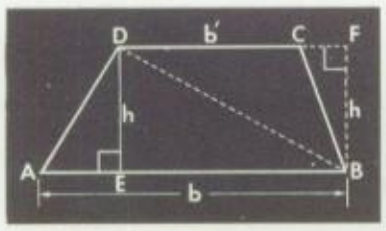
REQUIRED THEOREM 14

The area of a trapezoid is equal to one-half the product of the altitude and the sum of the bases.



Given: Trapezoid $ABCD$ with $AB \parallel DC$, base $AB = b$, base $DC = b'$, and altitude $DE = h$.

To prove: Area of trapezoid $ABCD = \frac{1}{2}h(b + b')$.

Plan: Draw diagonal BD, dividing the trapezoid into two triangles, $\triangle ABD$ and BCD. Find the area of each triangle. Add the results to obtain the area of the trapezoid.

Proof: Statements	Reasons
1. Trapezoid $ABCD$ with $AB \parallel DC$, bases b and b', and altitude h.	1. Given.
2. Draw diagonal BD.	2. One and only one straight line may be drawn through two points.
3. Construct $BF \perp DC$, meeting DC extended at F.	3. Through a given external point, one and only one perpendicular may be constructed to a given line.
4. BF, the altitude of $\triangle BCD = DE$, the altitude of $\triangle ABD = h$.	4. Parallel lines are everywhere equidistant.
5. Area of $\triangle ABD = \frac{1}{2}bh$, and area of $\triangle BCD = \frac{1}{2}b'h$.	5. The area of a triangle is equal to one-half the product of a side and the altitude drawn to that side.
6. Area of trapezoid $ABCD$ = area of $\triangle ABD$ + area of $\triangle BCD$.	6. The whole is equal to the sum of all its parts.
7. Area of trapezoid $ABCD = \frac{1}{2}bh + \frac{1}{2}b'h$.	7. Principle of substitution.
8. Area of trapezoid $ABCD = \frac{1}{2}h(b + b')$.	8. Factoring.

Giuseppe Ungaretti

Giuseppe Ungaretti è uno dei più grandi poeti italiani viventi. È nato ad Alessandria d'Egitto da genitori italiani, di Lucca, nel 1888. Da giovane studiò alla Sorbona, a Parigi, e qui ebbe occasione di conoscere molti futuri scrittori e poeti europei. Durante la prima guerra mondiale si arruolò volontario nell'esercito italiano. Nel 1920 si stabilì a Roma e vi rimase fino al 1936 quando si trasferì a San Paolo, nel Brasile, dove era stato invitato ad occupare la cattedra di letteratura italiana di quell'università. Nel 1942 ritornò in Italia e fu nominato professore di letteratura italiana all'università di Roma. Vive tuttora a Roma.

Il contributo maggiore dell'Ungaretti è di avere dato alla poesia italiana contemporanea un nuovo orientamento insistendo che alla parola poetica fosse ridato il suo vero significato e la sua dignità. Nella poesia che segue, I fiumi, scritta durante la prima guerra mondiale, l'Ungaretti ricostruisce la sua vita attraverso il simbolo dei fiumi che ne sono stati i testimoni principali, e cioè: l'Isonzo o la guerra, il Serchio o la regione dei suoi antenati, il Nilo o il luogo della sua nascita, e la Senna o dove la sua educazione intellettuale fu compiuta.

Changing, growing, becoming.

Jane,
I'll always remember you. How I woke up every morning just to hear you say "move over Schrimpf"! How you always sat behind me wherever I was and how I had to put up with some strange things in the past 6 years. Good luck in the future and may you surpass me in what you do so that I can bother you.

Love,
Fred Schrimpf.

Loans for Learning

If you qualify for college,

(or trade, preparatory, nursing or graduate school)

you qualify for one of these Lincoln loans.

PLAN A: The Lincoln Savings Bank can provide up to $10,000 for any student enrolled in a program leading to a degree. Under the New York Higher Education Assistance Corporation program no repayments are required until after studies are completed or the student withdraws from school. Then, depending upon the amount borrowed, you may have up to ten years to repay.

For matriculating students who show financial need, no interest accrues during enrollment. For students not eligible for this special interest benefit, interest is charged from the time the loan is advanced.

Loans are also available for students attending vocational schools. Half-time degree students are eligible for half the amount available to full-time students.

PLAN B: For families with net taxable income over $15,000, Lincoln will lend up to $20,000, with up to seven years to repay. On loans up to $5,000 for a single school year, Life Insurance is provided free.

Lincoln Loans for Learning—our investment in your future.

Best of Class

I'm not one who makes believe
I know that leaves are green
They only change to brown when autumn comes around
I know just what I say
Today's not yesterday
And all things have an ending
The law was never passed
But somehow all men feel they're truly free at last
Have we really gone this far through space and time
Or is this a vision in my mind

No Man is an island. No man stands alone. Each man's joy is joy to me.
Each man's grief is my own.

Defend each man as my brother, each man as my friend.

"Mother is putting my new secondhand clothes in order.

She prays now, she says, that I may learn in my own life and away from home and friends what the heart is and what it feels. Amen. So be it. Welcome, O life!

I go to encounter for the millionth time the reality of experience and to forge in the smithy of my soul

the uncreated conscience of my race.

James Joyce, Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man

This high school is so vast and complex that we could not try to grasp its every detail. Yet each person carries with him his own thoughts, ideas, and impressions of the past three years and it is my hope that this yearbook will be, in years to come, the one concrete reminder of what it was to be a senior at Farmingdale High School in 1974. We, as seniors, are unique in that we have watched a large part of high school become cliched and for the most part non-existent,—that part known as "school spirit." The energy and enthusiasm that were once directed toward school activities are now being channelled into diverse, more personal interests.

The lack of school spirit has affected almost every phase of high school life, including Hi-Life. The cover of this book was unanimously chosen to be green, not because of the traditional significance, but because it was the only color left that didn't clash with the gold seal. That is not to say that we were a spiritless group. I think the enthusiasm that prevailed in our staff throughout the year is evident on these pages, and also on the back window of a Dodge station wagon, where Hi-Life has been indelibly written with vanilla custard.

At this time, I would like to thank the staff for their work on Hi-Life this year. Anne Corsa—assistant editor-in-chief; she was also in charge of the senior section. Through resits and "photos to come on proof" she managed to provide seniors with a complete picture of the year. Tony Macchia—entertainment editor; he kept us constantly amused by his short stories and the many games he devised, such as hide and seek played with keys, gradebooks or any other available item. He was also our sports editor, and put together a very complete section that VLC and GLC should be happy with. Beth Barber—an aspiring photographer; I'm sure someday she'll learn to use a camera and when she does, Ansel Adams, look out. As activities editor, she quietly did her job and every deadline surprised us with 16 completed pages. Linda Pecora—faculty editor; and one person in whom school spirit, or spirit in general, is alive and well. An active member of 27 clubs, she put her creativity to work on an imaginative faculty section. Cindy Teed—business editor; who decorates the checkout counter at King Kullen, and also got our finances together. Pat Kajko—circulation editor; although her efforts at adding a touch of greenery to our dingy office, highlighted by the decapitation of her spider plant, were unsuccessful, her job at selling yearbooks was not. Cathy Trumpatori—copy editor; and the only person I know who types to the beat of Teen Angel. Or who knows all the words for that matter. Chris Rutkowski—photography editor; Chris had a busy year, between spending weekends in Rochester, and working for us, but I have to offer special thanks to him for completing last minute picture assignments from eight editors, and managing to maintain the high quality of photography that is visible throughout the book.

Special gratitude and thanks go to our advisors, Mr. Michael LoMonico—everpresent advisor and good friend to all of us, I'm sure none of us could have managed without him. Mr. Robert McKean—his help and good advice have been appreciated by the staff and myself. Without his encouragement, I wouldn't be writing this now, or double clutching either. Mr. Jeffrey Spiro—The Great Innovator. We are indebted to him for the memorial book shelves, coat hooks, and bulletin board. We are also indebted to our publishers, but nothing that Spiro's Heroes won't be able to handle. And Emil, thanks for your patience.

Thanks also to Sally McCalmont, Audrey Logan, Terry Budd, Laura Kallen, Debbie Kass, Kim Thiel and Nancy Winant for their help in the production of the yearbook.
